Autoimmune Conditions and Emerging Treatment Options

Thursday, November 16, 2023 | 6:30 pm PST

Approximately 50 million Americans, 20 percent of the population, suffer from autoimmune diseases. The incidence of autoimmune diseases is increasing dramatically with environmental toxins and gut microbiome playing a bigger role than once thought. More than 100 autoimmune diseases have been identified to date.

Designed for practitioners and pharmacists to help you expand your practice and better serve patients who are experiencing signs and symptoms of autoimmune-related illnesses, this webinar will cover:

- The increasing prevalence of autoimmune conditions
- Common symptoms of long COVID, such as: fatigue, cardiorespiratory problems, neurological symptoms, muscle and joint pain, and more
- Information on nutritional supplements and innovative compounding opportunities, including the roles of low-dose naltrexone and methylene blue
